We'd like to discuss most or all of the proposed topics in the draft notice—asking any questions we have, and conveying our tentative positions. We did this for Sysco with counsel for Hormel, during an hour-long call after receiving draft topics. Following that call, Defendants substantially reduced the number of proposed topics.

Scott: One of our team will get back to you tomorrow with some good times this week or next.

Also, given the number of topics, it could make a call more productive if you can give us a sense of what you'd like to address (specific topics, general issues, etc.).

Thanks.

Counsel:

Please let us know available dates in August and September for the Rule 30(b)(6) deposition of Amory Investments. We have attached draft topics for same.

Additionally, Amory has not supplemented its custodian lists to include the time periods for which the custodians had roles relevant to pork purchasing. This information is central to Defendants' ability to meaningfully evaluate the completeness of Amory's production. It is also essential for moving forward with depositions in this case. Similarly, Amory has not updated its initial disclosures to include individuals likely to have discoverable information that Plaintiff may use to support its claims, as it is required to do under Rule 26(a)(1)(i). At present, Amory has disclosed only "[f]ormer Maines employees still being identified by Plaintiff" and "[i]ndividuals identified during discovery in the case as having discoverable information." Given the amount of time and discovery that has taken place since Amory served its initial disclosures, Defendants request that Amory provide a more fulsome, specific response for its Rule 26(a)(1)(i) disclosure.

Please provide this information within 10 days of receiving this correspondence.

Thank you,
Sarah
